

STYLE NEWS & NOTES

Story by Serge Kerbel

ARM CANDY

I must confess - I've always had a weak spot for Hermès. Sometimes it feels like that they are making the most beautiful ... everything - purses, scarves, jewelry. You name it. And sure enough I'm already in love with enamel bracelets from their spring collection. Seriously, who needs a hot date when you have a stack of these beauties on your arm?

PLAYFUL PERFECTION

The search for the perfect party dress is officially over! Lanvin for H&M collection is finally here and if your fighting skills are as good as your taste, you can become a lucky owner of a feminine, contemporary and chicly Parisian number designed by Alber Elbaz himself!

The price is about $200.

SUN-KISSED

If being unique has always been on the top of your priority list, you might fancy the latest "Yellow Diamond" collection by Tiffany. 18K gold rings, pendants and bracelets are featuring the rarest of the rare yellow diamonds in cushion, heart and pear shapes. Won't you look fab with that champagne flute in your hand!

NEW YEARS' VEUVE

If you are planning on throwing a fabulous house party this holiday season, may we suggest a bottle of Veuve Clicquot Rosé as your champagne of choice — something different, with notes of raspberry, cherry and apricots. It will be a guaranteed hit among your fashionable friends.

CHECKING IN WITH LV

It looks like folks in Vancouver are having all the fun. First, the Olympics. Now, come December, they will have their own brand new Louis Vuitton Maison, the largest in Canada. The 10,000 sq. ft. store will be located at the historic Fairmont Hotel and will carry all LV product categories. Who needs Paris now?

LOVE, ACTUALLY

With one of the year's strongest winter collections, French label Chloé is enjoying the momentum and launching its latest perfume "Love, Chloé". This fragrance with notes of iris, lilac, hyacinth, talc and rice powder is sensual and elegant and will make a perfect Christmas present for any lovely girl on your list.
